

SFSU NAGPRA PROGRAM
Student Code of Conduct

The SFSU NAGPRA PROGRAM is responsible for Native American human remains and cultural materials at SFSU, as well as non-Native American historic collections and documents. Students working in the Program are expected to:

- treat the human remains and all other materials with respect and dignity.
- observe strict confidentiality on work conducted in the NAGPRA facilities.
- only students who are working in the NAGPRA program or are authorized by the NAGPRA Coordinator are allowed in NAGPRA facilities.
- no materials or documents are to be taken out of the facilities at any time without the permission of the NAGPRA Coordinator.
- follow safety precautions to avoid possible toxic contamination
 - wear laboratory gloves and masks (if necessary) when handling any materials, tray, or boxes
 - wash body and clothing after working in the lab
- observe security procedures
 - all doors must be locked at all times
 - windows must be locked when leaving the room for any time
- abide by any limitations and special treatment of human remains and cultural items as may be required by culturally affiliated tribes.

I have read the above document and agree to abide by the terms set forth,
